Guilford College, North Carolina

Dedication

Miss Mildred Marlette

During the years of her existence, Guilford College has been sustained in her progress by the unselfish contributions of countless individuals. None of these persons has been more dedicated as a student, a teacher, and a friend than Miss Mildred Marlette. The spiritual and intellectual development of her students has always been of primary concern to her. In appreciation of all of her years of service and kind guidance, we the Class of 1963, deem it a pleasure to dedicate the 1963 QUAKER to Miss Mildred Marlette.

The memory shall be ours.

ADMINIS

A high-contrast, black and white photograph. The lower half of the image is dominated by a dark, silhouetted landscape. On the left side, a person is crouching or sitting on a grassy hill, their form completely black against the lighter background. The horizon line is visible, with some sparse vegetation silhouetted against a very bright, almost white sky that occupies the upper half of the frame. The overall mood is contemplative and stark.

Tom served as co-captain and played a rough defensive end as well as making many key catches on offense. Probably the best player on the team as well as fastest. It is hoped that this course will be able to pave the way for a future art program at Guilford. But for now, the course will have to be handled on a non-credit basis at a cost of $20.00 per student if there are twenty-five interested persons. The course itself will be rather unusual since no strict pattern will be followed. No previous experience in art is required, and Mr. White has promised to give each student personal attention so that every individual may progress.

Guilford won a couple of games last fall, and close, but not quite good enough, was the story on several of her occasions as the 1962 Quaker gridiron edition emerged from the doldrums.

Coach Appenzeller's troops were young and inexperienced in the campaign's early stages, but the Quaker mentor regrouped his forces and by mid-season Guilford was no longer easy prey.

After 19 consecutive unhappy football Saturday's, the Quakers resurrected with a thrilling 19-10 comeback win over Fredrick in a homecoming affair here.

Then a few weeks later the Quakers upset Carolinas Conference for Catawba 7-3, in perhaps their finest hour of glory all season. And that was the day that Joye brought joy to Quakerville. Joye, that's Bill Joye, of course, and he's the man who stepped off the electrifying 50-yard touchdown journey that stunned the partisan crowd.

The seniors will be missed next year, but good luck to the boys who are returning on the squad.

The 1962-'63 Quaker Squad

Mike Allred

"Coach of the Year" in his initial year as basketball mentor of Guilford College

That's the rare distinction achieved by Jerry Steele, former captain of the Wake Forest Basketball team, in his coaching bow with the Quakers.

Steele's first Guilford edition compiled only a 5-20 record, but many of the losses were by close scores and came because of lack of depth and size to match the opposition. The men who choose the "Coach of the year" in NAIA District 26 took this into consideration in naming Steele to the honor. The fact that Steele made such a debut with a young Guilford team (all five starters return next season) is also worth noting.

And among the players returning is Dan Kuzma, 6-foot 2 basketball bombardier who made All-Carolinas Conference, a goal seldom attained by a Guilford player.

Kuzma, who possesses Kangaroo spring in his legs, towered tall and powerful among the conference giants.

"I just couldn't say enough about Kuz," Steele said, as he began to heap praise on the versatile Quaker. "I'll back anything that is said about him."

The Matawan, N. J. product rocketed to his greatest season in the college ranks, the hustling junior jumping jack hammering in 478 points for a 19.1 average and finishing second in the loop scoring race.

His finest moments came against Pembroke when he almost single-handedly felled the Indians with a devastating 45-point performance. He was equally effective off the boards. Kuzma was dueling nip-and-tuck for the conference's scoring crown going down the stretch, but a six-point showing in his curtain closing game against Campbell cast asunder his scoring king chances.

"His unselfish attitude is the thing that impresses me the most," Steele asserted, "He could have gotten the points at Campbell, there's no question about it. But he thought our best chances of winning were to slow down. That hurt his scoring chances, but he was happy to sacrifice for the team. He's the kind of boy that had rather score five and win than score 35 and lose."

Dangereared the Quakers' rebounding game in superlative fashion, pulling down 14.4 per battle to lead the team in this department for the third straight year. He also placed on the first team all-conference squad. Kuzma's all-conference winning marks the first time a Quaker has pulled the trick since the heralded Don Line - berry roamed the court.

"Kuzma is real good in the pivot," Steel continued, "but we should have him at forward."

Again this points out the crucial height problem the Quaker mentor deals with.

Kuzma drilled in 52.3 per cent of his shots from the floor to lead the club, and his 74 per cent from the charity stripe was good for second place finish in that department.

Kuzma loomed as the Guilford big gun, obviously, but he got strong support from the remaining cast.

Lloyd Turlington, who rode the bench his freshman season, blossomed into a full fledged star in his sophomore campaign. The former Goldsboro dandy rifled in 354 points for a 14.1 average per game. He finished second to Kuzma in the point-making race.

"Lucas was death at the foul line, canning 84 per cent of his shots to top the club."

"Turlington has come a long way, Steele said. "He has always been a good offensive player. Defense has been his weakness, but he's come a long way."

Steele didn't hesitate to render praise to the remaining members of his corps either.

"Bill Shirley was real consistent, not flashy, but consistent," the Quaker mentor said. "Elwood Parker was our quarterback, and David Odom and Paul Updegraff did a real good job at guard along with Fred Rabb and Mike Allred in the front court. Odom is a top notch defensive player and Updegraff could pop'em in from outside."

Shirley, a transfer student, earned a starting job in early season and never relinquished his post. He scored a seven-point clip.

Parker, vastly improved, turned in several sterling performances from his backline spot and wound up as the third Quaker in double figures. The speedster fashioned 11.2 scoring mean.

ing a deadly outside shooting touch, burned the cords for 18 points on one outing in the season's infancy and played a vital role in the Quaker backcourt. Odom, who got a late start due to football, came on to do superb work by mid-season.

Raab and Allred were the chief members of the front line serve troops. Bill Parker, Wilson Rodgers, and Bill Curran are other members of the squad who could see action in the future with hard work, according to Settle.

BRIGHT FUTURE?

With all five of its starters returning along with its entire bench, Guilford basketball hopes should be looking up--but not before it gets some big men to look up to.

Steele is hunting right now . . .

First the clock . . . then the plant —

When a customer bought 100 cigars from the wholesale grocery firm of H. Cone & Sons in 1870, he received a handsome clock. Some of these clocks are still ticking away. In addition to selling cigars and groceries for their father, Moses and Caesar Cone sold cotton plaids. Seeing a great future in fabrics, they started the Cone textile enterprises as a selling and commission house in 1891. They built the original manufacturing plant in 1896.

What of Cone Mills Today?

From these small beginnings has come one of the world's largest and most progressive textile firms. With 18 plants employing almost 13,000 men and women, Cone Mills today is the world's largest producer of corduroys, denims and flannels. Its modern printing and finishing operations are turning out a host of other fashion-right fabrics. Cone through its research and development activities is constantly seeking better ways to make better materials.

Examples of Cone firsts in this country are the new, popular stretch denims and corduroys.

To maintain its high standards, our company needs young people with initiative and intelligence. Cone Mills offers opportunities in four areas: production, administration, sales and research. Epitaph . . .

Sliding green cut with walks;
Red, white buildings pillared straight,
Uncreased waters, 'round which to talk,
These were ours to take.

Dancing gold to shriveled rustlings,
Cold, stiff twigs dismal bare,
Small, brown buds exploding green,
All these four times were seen.

Staccato black on endless white;
Cramping legs and aching back;
Clawing out our self-made mould,
To stamp us on the earth of life.
